Hunger pledge tweet three:

Achieving zero hunger points to a number of 'firsts' For the first time, ending hunger is within the world's grasp: science has given us a clear roadmap on the who, what and where to invest to meet SDG2. And for the first time, hunger numbers have risen by nearly 20% in only one year. So, hunger reduction is the first job of any food system transformation.

811 million people are hungry. Behind these figures are vulnerable men, women & children who lack the political power to change the situation. It is within our reach to reduce hunger worldwide and we can make a difference: https://www.iisd.org/event/UNFSS\_ZeroHungerPledge

Hunger pledge tweet six

“ We know donors need to double their spending on food security and agriculture in the next 10 years to be able to end hunger, double the incomes of the poorest farmers, and meet the Paris climate goals. But governments can't meet these goals alone. More private sector investment in agri-food sectors in low- and middle-income countries is also needed to realize a drastic change.

The Zero Hunger Pledge is a one-time investment to end systemic hunger by 2030. The current #FoodSystem damages the environment & health. Most callously, it creates hunger. But for $33bn a year, that can be fixed. #ActionForZeroHunger
